	Name		Team	FD	DK	Opp Team	Vegas O/U	Pass Off	Opp Pass Def	Opp Def FP allowed rank	DK F	PPG	FP per attempt	Rush Yds/ Game	Risk	Recommendation	RotoBaller Analysis
	F	Justin Herbert	LAC	$8,100	$6,900	MIA	51	3	28	2 18.08		0.44	8.65	L	STRONG	He should be a popular play this week since this game has the highest total on the board and the matchup is favorable. He has all of his weapons at his disposal and is finally fully healthy, so there isn't anything stopping him from letting it rip this week.
	r	Trevor Lawrence	JAX	$8,000	$6,500	IND	45.5	10	11	10	0 19.22		0.56	17.12	L	GPP	nearmy, so users int anytiming stopping min riom returng it rip tims week.  Everyone loves the Jags this year and it's easy to see why after how they finished up last season. T-Law has studis everywhere who can make plays and could light up this Indy secondary.
QE	В	Geno Smith	SEA	$7,200	$6,100	LAR	46	12	21	24	19.	.43	0.58	21.53	L	GPP	Geno is ready to show that last year wasn't a fluke. This offense is loaded and he even has another solid receiver now with the rookie JSN in the fold. The Rams secondary lost Jalen Ramsey and is going to have their hands full.
		Derek Carr	NO	$7,000	$5,300	TEN	42	16	32	4	15.94		0.48	6.80	м	SLATE-BREAKER	Carr has been my kryptonite at times in DFS, but you simply can't ignore this matchup as the Titans were shredded by opposing pass games last season. They are a pass funnel, so we should see the Saints have to air it out to move the chains. Carr is too boom/bust for cash games for me, but an elite GPP play.
		Sam Howell	WAS	$7,100	$4,900	ARI	38	21	24	11	19.26		#DIV/0!	#DIV/0!	М	DK CASH	I am using Howell in cash games on DK where he is 4.9k, but not on FanDuel. He looked good in preseason and the Washington offense has a very good matchup here against an Arizona team that is already in shambles before the season even starts.
		Name	Team	FD	DK	Opp Team	Vegas O/U	Rush Off	Opp Run Def	OFF LINE MATCHUP RATING	Opp FP allowed	Touches /game	GL Carry Share	DK PPG	Risk	Recommendation	RotoBaller Analysis
		Austin Ekeler	LAC	$9,000	$8,400	MIA	51	30	4	24	12	18.29	63.20%	22.22	L	STRONG	Ekeler has to be in consideration due to his heavy involvement in the passing game and this elite game environment. It's actually a bad matchup for the run game, but Ekeler's ability to score TDs might overcome that.
		Bijan Robinson	ATL	$7,800	$8,000	CAR	39.5	2	18	3	19	#N/A	N/A	0	L	CASH	I think it's wise to invest in Bijan right out of the gate. He should dominate the touches in a run-first Atlanta offense and is a dynamic playmaker both as a runner and receiver.
		Derrick Henry	TEN	$8,500	$7,800	NO	42	13	24	26	20	23.88	70.80%	20.8	L	GPP	I can't help but have some interest in a cheap, potentially low-owned Derrick Henry this week. He can beat out against anyone and I think this Tennessee offense is going to be better this season and more well-rounded.
RE	В	J.K. Dobbins	BAL	$6,500	$6,600	нои	43.5	3	32	7	1	12.38	17.50%	11.97	L	CASH	Dobbins is a core play for me. Is there a chance he doesn't score or shares touches with other backs? I guess, but I am not going to miss out on a chance to play him at this price and in this matchup.
		Travis Etienne Jr.	JAX	$7,700	$6,900	IND	45.5	14	20	13	7	15.00	47.90%	13.48	м	GPP	ETN is a solid pivot at low ownership. We likely won't see him this cheap all year if the Jags are as good as we expect them to be.
		Aaron Jones	GB	$7,200	$6,300	СНІ	42	15	31	32	2	16.00	28.10%	15.68	L	CASH/GPP	Jones looks like a great play this week with the Packers possibly missing Watson and having a banged-up Doubs, too. He will share carries with Dillon, but could get a ton of targets in the passing game where he can rack up catches and yards in a hurry.
		Khalil Herbert	СНІ	$6,100	$5,300	GB	42	1	26	6	11	10.62	18.60%	9.29	М	SLATE-BREAKER	I love Herbert's upside here against a Green Bay run defense that was really beat up on the ground last season. Herbert is a hard-runner who has always succeded when given opportunity and should be the lead back for the Bears.
		Jamaal Williams	NO	$6,800	$5,100	TEN	48	19	1	9	31	16.12	73.80%	13.76	М	CASH/FADE	It's such a poor matchup that I want to fade, but he's the cheapest starting RB this weekend other than the Colts guys and is going to be the goal line back.
		Name	Team	FD	DK	Opp Team	Vegas O/U	Pass Off	Opp Pass Def	Opp Def FP allowed	Targets /game	Rec/ game	RZ Tgt share	DK PPG	Risk	Recommendation	RotoBaller Analysis
		Justin Jefferson	MIN	$9,500	$8,800	тв	44	4	9	7	10.82	7.53	28.60%	22.79	L	CASH	Jefferson is a core play for me this week. I think he has a chance at being the top raw points play on the board. He is going to get the volume in this offense and has shown the ability to produce huge weeks.
		Tyreek Hill	MIA	$8,800	$8,200	LAC	51	6	7	28	10.00	7.00	14.50%	21.37	М	GPP	The matchup looks tough on paper, but we know the Dolphins will find ways to get Hill the ball and the big total on the game boosts his projection a bit.
		Ja'Marr Chase	CIN	$8,500	$8,100
						CLE	48	7	5	27	11.17	7.25	27.60%	20.71	L	STRONG	Chase is proabably even cash viable with how consistent he has been on a weekly basis, but for now I will keep him listed as a GPP play. He did have a big game last year against the Browns and we know he can excel against any secondary with his elite playmaking.
		Keenan Allen	LAC	$8,000	$7,300	MIA	51	3	28	18	11.17 8.90	7.25 6.60	27.60% 15.60%	20.71	L	STRONG	for now I will keep him listed as a GPP play. He did have a big game last year against the
		Keenan Allen  DK Metcalf	LAC	$8,000 $7,700	$7,300 $7,000												for now I will keep him listed as a GPP play. He did have a big game last year against the Browns and we know he can excel against any secondary with his elite playmaking.  Allen eats first in this passing game most of the time and is the top target for Justin Herbert. He isn't flashy but usually finds a way to get it done. He doesn't have the big play upside of Mike Williams, but is a safer bet as far as target and reception floor. I love Metcaff for tourneys, he could absolutely go off against this secondary and his RZ
WF	R —			, .,	. /	MIA	51	3	28	18	8.90	6.60	15.60%	16.64	L	GPP	for now I will keep him listed as a GPP play. He did have a big game last year against the Browns and we know he can excel against any secondary with his eitle playmaking. Allen eats first in this passing game most of the time and is the top target for Justin Herbert. He isn't flashy but usually finds a way to get it done. He doesn't have the big play upside of Mike Williams, but is a safer bet as far as target and reception floor.
W	R -	DK Metcalf	SEA	$7,700	$7,000	MIA	51	3	28	18	8.90 8.29	6.60 5.29	15.60%	16.64	L	GPP GPP	for now I will keep him listed as a GPP play. He did have a big game last year against the Browns and we know he can excel against any secondary with his elite playmaking.  Allen eats first in this passing game most of the time and is the top target for Justin Herbert. He isn't flashy but usually finds a way to get it done. He doesn't have the big play upside of Mike Williams, but is a safer bet as far as target and reception floor.  Ilove Metcalf for tourneys, he could absolutely go off against this secondary and his RZ target share is massive. He's just a beast and going to be hard for their corners to handle. Olave is poised for a big sophomore year as the top target for Dereck Carr. Michael Thomas is back, but Olave has established himself as the top option this season. We know Tennessee has a very leaky secondary, too.  I expect big things from Ridley this season and he's projecting to be very lightly rostered in
W	R	DK Metcalf Chris Olave	SEA	$7,700 $7,300	$7,000 $6,500	MIA LAR TEN	51 46 42	3 12 16	28 21 32	18	8.90 8.29 7.93	6.60 5.29 4.80	15.60% 40.30% 16.40%	16.64 15.19 13.95	L L	GPP GPP CASH	for now I will keep him listed as a GPP play. He did have a big game last year against the Browns and we know he can excel against any secondary with his elite playmaking.  Allen eats first in this passing game most of the time and is the top target for Justin Herbert. He isn't flashy but usually finds a way to get it done. He doesn't have the big play upside of Mike Williams, but is a safer bet as far as target and reception floor.  I love Metcalf for tourneys, he could absolutely go off against this secondary and his RZ target share is massive. He's just a beast and going to be hard for their corners to handle.  Olave is poised for a big sophomore year as the top target for Derek Carr. Michael Thomas is back, but Olave has established himself as the top option this season. We know Tennessee has a very leaky secondary, too.  I expect big things from Ridley this season and he's projecting to be very lightly rostered in his Jax debuthe's cheaper than we are going to see him possibly all season.  Godwin should get a ton of targets from Mayfield this season and me should also see the
W	R	DK Metcalf Chris Olave Calvin Ridley	SEA NO JAX	$7,700 $7,300 $7,000	$7,000 $6,500 $6,500	MIA LAR TEN IND	51 46 42 45.5	3 12 16	28 21 32 11	18 11 1 26	8.90 8.29 7.93 #DIV/0!	6.60 5.29 4.80 #DIV/0!	15.60% 40.30% 16.40% N/A	16.64 15.19 13.95	L	GPP GPP CASH	for now I will keep him listed as a GPP play. He did have a big game last year against the Browns and we know he can excel against any secondary with his eitle playmaking.  Allen eats first in this passing game most of the time and is the top target for Justin Herbert. He isn't flashy but usually finds a way to get it done. He doesn't have the big play upside of Mike Williams, but is a safer bet as far as target and reception floor.  How thetcalf for tourneys, he could absolutely go off against this secondary and his RZ target share is massive. He's just a beast and going to be hard for their corners to handle.  Olave is poised for a big sophomore year as the top target for Derek Carr. Michael Thomas is back, but Olave has established himself as the top option this season. We know  I expect big things from Ridley this season and he's projecting to be very lightly rostered in his Jax debut. he's cheaper than we are going to see him possibly all season.  Godwin should get a ton of targets from Mayfield this season and we should also see the Bucs have to air it out quite a bit against this porous Minnesota secondary.
- WF	R	DK Metcalf Chris Olave Calvin Ridley Chris Godwin	SEA NO JAX TB	$7,700 $7,300 $7,000 $6,800	$7,000 $6,500 $6,500 $5,900	MIA  LAR  TEN  IND  MIN	51 46 42 45.5 44	3 12 16 10	28 21 32 11 31	18 11 1 26	8.90 8.29 7.93 #DIV/0! 9.47	6.60 5.29 4.80 #DIV/0! 6.93	15.60% 40.30% 16.40% N/A 15.60%	16.64 15.19 13.95 0	L	GPP GPP CASH GPP CASH	for now I will keep him listed as a GPP play. He did have a big game last year against the Browns and we know he can excel against any secondary with his elite playmaking.  Allen eats first in this passing game most of the time and is the top target for Justin Herbert. He isn't flashy but usually finds a way to get it done. He doesn't have the big play upside of Mike Williams, but is a safer bet as far as target and reception floor.  I love Metcalf for tourneys, he could absolutely go off against this secondary and his RZ target share is massive. He's just a beast and going to be hard for their corners to handle.  Olave is poised for a big sophomore year as the top target for Derek Carr. Michael Thomas is back, but Olave has established himself as the top option this season. We know Tennessee has a very leaky secondary, too.  I expect big things from Ridley this season and he's projecting to be very lightly rostered in his Jax debuthe's cheaper than we are going to see him possibly all season.  Godwin should get a ton of targets from Mayfield this season and we should also see the Bucs have to air it out quite a bit against this porous Minnesota secondary.  It is a low-scoring game possibly, but Washington pieces are cheap and pairing Dotson with Howell is one way to start lineups in a very affordable way.  It remains to be seen how much he will be featured in the Browns passing game, but he could end up with a bunch of targets and I would expect Cleveland to have to pass often to
W	R	DK Metcalf Chris Olave Calvin Ridley Chris Godwin Jahan Dotson	SEA NO JAX TB WAS	$7,700 $7,300 $7,000 $6,800 $6,100	$7,000 $6,500 $6,500 $5,900 $5,000	MIA LAR TEN IND MIN ARI	51 46 42 45.5 44 38	3 12 16 10 2 21	28 21 32 11 31 24	18 11 1 26 2	8.90 8.29 7.93 #DIV/0! 9.47 5.08	6.60 5.29 4.80 #DIV/0! 6.93 2.92	15.60% 40.30% 16.40% N/A 15.60%	16.64 15.19 13.95 0 15.58 11.13	L L L	GPP GPP CASH GPP CASH	for now I will keep him listed as a GPP play. He did have a big game last year against the Browns and we know he can excel against any secondary with his eitle playmaking.  Allen eats first in this passing game most of the time and is the top target for Justin Herbert. He isn't flashly but usually finds a way to get it done. He doesn't have the big play upside of Mike Williams, but is a safer bet as far as target and reception floor.  1 love Metcalf for tourneys, he could absolutely go off against this secondary and his RZ target share is massive. He's just a beast and going to be hard for their corners to handle.  Clave is poised for a big sophomore year as the top target for Derek Carr. Michael Thomas is back, but Olave has established himself as the top option this season. We know Tennessee has a very leaky secondary, too.  1 expect big things from Ridley this season and he's projecting to be very lightly rostered in his lax debut. he's cheaper than we are going to see him possibly all season.  Godwin should get a ton of targets from Mayfield this season and we should also see the Bucs have to air it out quite a bit against this porous Minnesota secondary.  This is a low-scoring game possibly, but Washington pieces are cheap and pairing Dotson with Howell is one way to start lineups in a very affordable way.
W	R	DK Metcalf  Chris Olave  Calvin Ridley  Chris Godwin  Jahan Dotson  Elijah Moore	SEA NO JAX TB WAS CLE	$7,700 $7,300 $7,000 $6,800 $6,100 $5,700	$7,000 $6,500 $6,500 $5,900 $5,000	MIA LAR TEN IND MIN ARI CIN	51 46 42 45.5 44 38 48	3 12 16 10 2 21 22	28 21 32 11 31 24 26	18 11 1 26 2 24 25	8.90 8.29 7.93 #DIV/0! 9.47 5.08	6.60 5.29 4.80 #DIV/0! 6.93 2.92	15.60% 40.30% 16.40% N/A 15.60% 11.10%	16.64 15.19 13.95 0 15.58 11.13	L L L	GPP GPP CASH GPP CASH GPP	for now I will keep him listed as a GPP play. He did have a big game last year against the Browns and we know he can excel against any secondary with his eitle playmaking.  Allen eats first in this passing game most of the time and is the top target for Justin Herbert. He isn't flashy but usually finds a way to get it done. He doesn't have the big play upside of Mike Williams, but is a safer bet as far as target and reception floor.  How Metcalf for tourneys, he could absolutely go off against this secondary and his RZ target share is massive. He's just a beast and going to be hard for their corners to handle.  Olave is poised for a big sophomore year as the top target for Derek Carr. Michael Thomas is back, but Olave has established himself as the top option this season. We know  Tennessee has a very leaky secondary, too.  I expect big things from Ridley this season and he's projecting to be very lightly rostered in his fax debut. he's cheaper than we are going to see him possibly all season.  Godwin should get a ton of targets from Mayfield this season and we should also see the Bucs have to air it out quite a bit against this porous Minnesota secondary.  It remains to be seen how much he will be featured in the Browns passing game, but he could end up with a bunch of targets and I would expect Cleveland to have to pass often to keep pace with the Bengals in this one.  Mims is the chalk value lock this week with Jeudy out for the Broncos. He locked great in preseason and should be able to pay off this price pretty easily with a few catches and smash value if he has a big game.
		DK Metcalf  Chris Olave  Calvin Ridley  Chris Godwin  Jahan Dotson  Elijah Moore  Marvin Mims Jr.	SEA NO JAX TB WAS CLE DEN	$7,700 $7,300 $7,000 $6,800 $6,100 $5,700 $4,700	$7,000 $6,500 $6,500 $5,900 $5,000 $3,800	MIA LAR TEN IND MIN ARI CIN	51 46 42 45.5 44 38 48	3 12 16 10 2 21 22	28 21 32 11 31 24 26	18 11 1 1 26 2 2 24 25 16	8.90 8.29 7.93 #DIV/0! 9.47 5.08 4.06	6.60 5.29 4.80 #DIV/0! 6.93 2.92 2.31	15.60% 40.30% 16.40% N/A 15.60% 13.00% N/A	16.64 15.19 13.95 0 15.58 11.13 5.51	L L L L	GPP  CASH  GPP  CASH  GPP  CASH  GPP  CASH	for now I will keep him listed as a GPP play. He did have a big game last year against the Browns and we know he can excel against any secondary with his eitle playmaking.  Allen eats first in this passing game most of the time and is the top target for Justin Herbert. He isn't flashly but usually finds a way to get it done. He doesn't have the big play upside of Mike Williams, but is a safer bet as far as target and reception floor.  How thetcalf for tourneys, he could absolutely go off against this secondary and his RZ target share is massive. He's just a beast and going to be hard for their corners to handle.  Olave is poised for a big sophomore year as the top target for Derek Carr. Michael Thomas is back, but Olave has established himself as the top option this season. We know Tennessee has a very leaky secondary, too.  I expect hig things from Ridley this season and he's projecting to be very lightly rostered in his 3ax debut. he's cheaper than we are going to see him possibly all season.  Godwin should get a ton of targets from Mayfield this season and we should also see the Bucs have to air it out quite a bit against this porous Minnesota secondary.  This is a low-scoring game possibly, but Washington pieces are cheap and pairing Dotson with Howell is one way to start lineups in a very affordable way.  It remains to be seen how much he will be featured in the Browns passing game, but he could end up with a bunch of targets and I would expect Cleveland to have to pass often to keep pace with the Bengals in this one.  Mims is the chalk value lock this week with Jeudy out for the Broncos. He looked great in preseason and should be able to pay off this price pretty easily with a few catches and smash value if he has a big game.
TE		DK Metcalf Chris Olave Calvin Ridley Chris Godwin Jahan Dotson Elijah Moore Marvin Mirns Jr.	SEA NO JAX TB WAS CLE DEN BAL	$7,700 $7,300 $7,000 $6,800 $6,100 $5,700 $4,700	$7,000 $6,500 $6,500 $5,900 $5,000 $3,800 $3,000	MIA LAR TEN IND MIN ARI CIN LV	51 46 42 45.5 44 38 48 44 43.5	3 12 16 10 2 21 22 19	28 21 32 11 31 24 26 29	18 11 1 1 26 2 24 25 16	8.90 8.29 7.93 #DIV/0! 9.47 5.08 4.06 #DIV/0!	6.60 5.29 4.80 #DIV/0! 6.93 2.92 2.31 #DIV/0!	15.60% 40.30% 16.40% N/A 15.60% 13.00% N/A 24.30%	16.64 15.19 13.95 0 15.58 11.13 5.51 0	L L L L M	GPP GPP CASH GPP CASH GPP CASH STRONG	for now I will keep him listed as a GPP play. He did have a big game last year against the Browns and we know he can excel against any secondary with his eitle playmaking.  Allen eats first in this passing game most of the time and is the top target for Justin Herbert. He isn't flashy but usually finds a way to get it done. He doesn't have the big play upside of Mike Williams, but is a safer bet as far as target and reception floor.  How Metcalf for tourneys, he could absolutely go off against this secondary and his RZ target share is massive. He's just a beast and going to be hard for their corners to handle.  Olave is poised for a big sophomore year as the top target for Derek Carr. Michael Thomas is back, but Olave has established himself as the top option this season. We know  Tennessee has a very leaky secondary, too.  I expect big things from Ridley this season and he's projecting to be very lightly rostered in his fax debut. he's cheaper than we are going to see him possibly all season.  Godwin should get a ton of targets from Mayfield this season and we should also see the Bucs have to air it out quite a bit against this porous Minnesota secondary.  It remains to be seen how much he will be featured in the Browns passing game, but he could end up with a bunch of targets and I would expect Cleveland to have to pass often to keep pace with the Bengals in this one.  Mims is the chalk value lock this week with Jeudy out for the Broncos. He locked great in preseason and should be able to pay off this price pretty easily with a few catches and smash value if he has a big game.